Secretary Taft Defends Policies of President Roosevelt.

SPEAKS AT COLUMBUS, OHIO

Secretary of War Is Heart and Soul With the President In His Support of Measures Advocated by the Latter.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Secretary of War William H. Taft, delivered before the Buckeye Republican club, here Monday night an address, which was a comprehensive statement of his position as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination.

The speech was largely a defense of the policies of President Roosevelt, which Secretary Taft expects, if elected, to carry forward. In addressing his fellow citizen of Ohio and the republicans of the whole country, he made it plain that he was heart and soul with the president in his support of the measures which have come to be known as the "Roosevelt policies." While insisting that these measures had already been productive of much good to the country, he pointed out how existing statutes could be amended in order to further perfect them and make them more effective.

The following is an outline of the views expressed by Mr. Taft:

"I think the imprisonment of one or two managers of unlawful trusts would have a most healthy effect all throughout the country.

"The states can best remedy the dangers of too great accumulation of wealth in one hand by controlling the descent and evolution of property and they ought to do so.

"In times of great national need, an income tax would be of great assistance in furnishing means to carry on the government.

"The evil of eliminating competition ought to be restrained by making it unlawful for an interstate railway to acquire stock in a competing line.

"An interstate road should not be permitted to issue stock or bonds * * * except after a certificate by the commission that the securities are issued with the approval of the commission for a legitimate railroad purpose.

"Efficient regulation is the very antidote and preventative of socialism and government ownership.

"The time is near at hand for an amendment to the anti-trust law * * * making clearer the distinction between lawful agreements reasonably restraining trade and those which are pernicious in their effect.

"Appeals to judicial remedies (by railroads) should be limited in such a way that parties will not use them merely to delay and so clog efficient and just executive or legislative action.

"Tariff revision is to be by the republican party and is not to be a departure from the protective principle, but in conformity to it.

"It would be not only unwise, but unsafe, for the party to fail in its next national platfor mto pledge itself to a revision of the tariff as soon after the next presidential election as possible.

"The suppression of monopolies and the abolition of secret rebates and discriminating privileges by railroads will lessen the possibility of such enormous accumulations as those which have already taken place."

CENTRAL'S BIG SHOPS.

Thousand Workmen Rre Rushing the Work at Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 21.—Work on the shops of the Central railway in Macon has assumed large proportions, and within a few weeks contractors and carpenters will have the greater portion of the rough work done.

The machinery for the gigantic buildings is already being erected as rapidly as possible for it to be put in place. Hundreds of workmen are daily engaged in erecting the big structure. The foundations are already in place, and one inspecting the work is readily convinced that this is the largest enterprise within the borders of the Central City.

Within twelve months the Central officials will be able to secure the construction of any kind of railway implement, and will be able to make any repairs that will be needed for both locomotive and car. It has been intended that all conveniences be secured in the construction of the shops, and when completed, this will be one of the greatest railway repairing centers in the south.

More than one thousand workmen will be daily engaged. Nearly this number are already at the different duties connected with the erection of the buildings. When completed the factory chimney will tower above the city more than 175 feet, and experts are already engaged for the careful construction of this portion of the plant. All details of the business connected with the acquiring of shop site and yards have practically been completed, and the transfer of more than $50,000 worth of lands to the Central last week in the vicinity by the Empire Land Company, of Savannah, Ga., completed the land transactions necessary for the yards.

Reid Unveils Tablet.

Salisbury, England, Aug. 21.—In the ancient and beautiful Salisbury cathedral Monday, Ambassador White law Reid unveiled a handsome marble tablet in memory of those killed in the terrible accident a year ago, when, by the wrecking of the American line boat train, 28 persons, mostly Americans, lost their lives. The ceremonies, the impressiveness of which was emphasized by the presence of the widows and children of the trainmen killed in the disaster, all in the deepest bourning, was attended by many dignitaries of the church.

Telegrapher Aged Only 10.

Celina, Tex., Aug. 21.—Guy C. Clark, a telegraph operator and assistant station agent of the Frisco railroad, at this place, is only 10 years of age. He receives a salary of $25 a month from the road, and is on the list of regular employes. Celina has a population of about 1,000 people and considerable business is handled at this station. The child operator and agent performs the duties of his position with the correctness and faithfulness of a man.

Feud Has Tragic End.

Huntsville, Ala., Aug. 21.—Charles Drake, a well known young farmer, was killed Sunday by Houston Clark, a former friend, at the home of J. Overton, at Poplar Ridge. Clark came to Huntsville and surrendered to the sheriff, who placed him in jail. He would say nothing of the affair, except that he acted in self-defense. The killing is believed to be the result of a feud of long standing between the Drake and Clark families.

Fought on a Steamboat.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 21.—A negro excursion to Beaufort proved a bloody affair. When the boat returned 12 wounded negroes had their wounds sewn up by surgeons. Others had slighter injuries that did not require the surgeon's attention. One of the negroes had 12 stabs in the back made by a short-bladed knife. Razors were the weapons most generally used, although one man had a hatpin run entirely through his arm.

ANTI-CLERICAL RIOTS

Outburst Overspreads the Greater Part of Italy.

PRELATES MUCH ALARMED

Thirty Anarchists Make Attack Upon Carriage in Which Were Cardinal Merry del Val and Monsignor Kennedy.

Rome, Aug. 21.—The wave of anticlericalism is increasing in violence. Nearly all the prelates of the vatican go about the city fearing either insult or assault. Cardinal Merry del Val, with Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college, while passing through Marino in a carriage were furiously assaulted by a band of 30 anarchists, who were shouting: "Down with the vatican! Long live the Revolution!"

The anarchists were armed with knives and clubs. They surrounded the carriage despite a strong guard of detectives and carbineers. One anarcalist swung a club at the cardinal's head, but a detective, quickly interposing, received the blow on his chest and was dangerously injured.

The pope, when informed, sorrowfully said: "The world will now see how impossible it will be for me to leave the vatican."

The outburst of anticlericalism has overspread all Italy. It shows, despite the improved relations between the vatican and the quirinal, that there is still a large section of the radical populace which is eager at all times to attack the church. The events of this summer have favored the anticlericals, wherefore, after a long period of tranquility, during which the church and the government have rendered one another reciprocal aid, the mobs are now burning the churches and assaulting the prelates. Fortunately parliament is not in session now, else an unforeseen crisis might arise. For Italy is peculiarly susceptible to sudden ebullitions of public anger.

The unfortunate situation is still further complicated at this time by the issuance from the vatican of a communication which is destined to arouse serious controversy. It affirms that either Catholics or non-Catholics who have interpreted the general policy of the pope toward the Italian government as implying that he is in accord with or has any confidence in any cabinet or political party misunderstand the pontiff's position. The vatican, it is asserted, sees no need at this time of changing its policy toward the governmnet, whatever attitude the government may assume.

It is reported that Pope Pius is about to follow up his recent syllabus on so-called moderation in the faith with an encylical condemning modernist errors.

PILGRIM FATHERS.

Cornerstone Laid To Monument Commemorating Their Landing.

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 21.—The laying of the corner stone of the Cape Cod Pilgrim memorial monument in the presence of President Roosevelt, Governor Guild and distinguished guests, completed Tuesday the foundation of one of the most imposing structures along the Atlantic Coast, commemorating the first landing within a few feet of its base of the pilgrim fathers.

Rebels Are Slaughtered.

Casa Blanca, Aug. 21.—A large force of Moors suddenly descended upon the French camp early Monday morning and attacked the sleeping soldiers. The troops rallied quickly, though at first taken by surprise. The Moors were repulsed with considerable slaughter, leaving many dead and wounded in their flight.

Arranged Funeral, then Died.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 21.—Just after making all arrangements for his funeral, even giving the names of pallbearers and singers, Captain Elijah Blackford, 82 year old, died suddenly of apoplexy.

TRAGEDY IN G. A. R. HALL.

One Veteran Thrusts Bayonet Into Another

Victoria, Mo., Aug. 21.—Captain Charles E. Waters, commander of the G. A. R. post here, is held by the coroner on the charge of murder, as a result of the fatal wound he inflicted with a bayonet in the abdomen of Colonel George W. Patten, former post commander, at a meeting of the veterans.

The fight followed a quarrel between the present commander and the former commander of James N. Whitehead Post No. 121, and, according to witnesses, the enmity between the two veterans was brought about over a disagreement as to the duties of Patten in arranging for the sale of concessions at the annual picnic of the post, to be held in a few days.

Adjutant C. W. Lannam, one of the principal witnesses at the inquest, testified that Patten entered the hall near the close of the meeting and, with a stick, advanced toward Captain Waters, roundly abusing the commander. Hot words between the two veterans followed and Patten attempted to strike Waters. The commander evaded the blow, but the stick was broken when it struck a chair. Several comrades interfered. Patten returned again in a threatening manner, the witness said, and after more hot words had been exchanged and Patten had again flourished the broken stick, Captain Waters grasped an old army musket from the wall and pointing the bayonet at Patten, braced himself, as he had 45 years ago when meeting charges of confederates, and cried: "Let him come!"

Patten, it was stated, rushed at the commander with the stick and Waters thrust the bayonet three inches into his abdomen.

Patten did not realize that he was injured until he was on the street; then he collapsed, dying later.

Waters is now in jail at Hillsboro, the county seat of Jefferson county.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Money Shortage Caused Rapid Construction.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—Conditions on the Panama canal have reached a state of gravity, due to the fact that construction work is developing faster than was contemplated when the estimates for expenditures during the fiscal year 1908 was made nearly a year ago

The estimate is made that about $9,000,000 in excess of the appropriations could be used to advantage in pushing forward the work during the present year, and Colonel Goethals, the engineer in charge, thinks it would be in the interest of true economy to proceed along this basis, and ask congress at its next session to make good the deficiency as the argument is made that with the present organization and progress the waterway can be completed more rapidly than by restraining expenditures within the appropriations now available.

Already reports show that the monthly estimated expenditure for labor is being considerably exceeded, and work at the Gatun dam has progressed faster than was anticipated.

Haste Costs a Life.

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 21.—A desire to be first off an excursion boat caused the death of Harry Blakeley of Palisade avenue Blakeley went on the Hibernian excursion which left the city for points of interest, and when the boats returning approached the pier, he jumped from the barge to the Grand Republic, but fell into the water. His head struck the boat and he sank. Jerry Mulvill jumped in the water after him and had to be rescued by others on the boat.

China's Unsettled State.

kTool, Aug. 21.—Private advices from Pekin forecast a gloomy future for China, owing to the unsettled condition of politics and the absence of the mind that has ruled the country for so many years, an incurable disease having incapacitated the dowager empress, hitherto sole mistress of China. The increase in the historic animosity between the Manchus and the man darins makes the establishment of political order impossible.

MAY LEAD TO PEACE

Governor Glenn Has Conference With Mr. Thom.

IT WAS MOST HARMONIOUS

Executive Believes Interview with the Southern Railway's Counsel Will Lead to Peace Between State and the Road.

New York, Aug. 21.—Another move toward peace between the state of North Carolina and the Southern railway has been made.

Governor Glenn, of North Carolina, just previous to his departure for home, had a conference with A. P. Thom, the general counsel of the Southern railway, in the course of which he made some suggestions which he believes may lead to peace. In speaking of the conference, Gov. Glenn said:

"My interview with Mr. Thom was in the interest of good will and harmony and to save the cost, now accumulating, in the holding of the suit in this city. I made two suggestions to Mr. Thom, the first of which was that to stop the taking of testimony until the two suits, one from the United States circuit court and the other from the state court are appealed, so that the supreme court of the United States can pass on the jurisdiction of the two courts and that after this was done each party would decide what course to take. My second suggestion was that the railroads stop their suits and try to live under the two and a quarter cent rate and if, after giving the law a trial they find that they cannot continue under it and live, they should appeal to the justice and fair-mindedness of the people in the state of North Carolina to right the wrong and it would be done.

Mr. Thom told Governor Glenn that he would bring his suggestions to the attention of the Southern railway officials and would let him know.

The conference between the North Carolina executive and Mr. Thom was most harmonious.

TO IGNORE ORDER.

Alabama Court Solicitor Will Prosecute Cases Against L. & N.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 21.—Solicitor Heflin, of Jefferson county, declared in an interview that he would pay no attention to the process issued from the inferior federal courts notifying solicitors and sheriffs that they must not indict or arrest agents of the Louisville and Nashville railroad for failing to comply with the passenger rate and two cent rate laws recently enacted by the legislature. Mr. Heflin referred to a case handed down by the United States supreme court for his authority, which case, he said, denied the right of interference by the inferior federal court in the enforcement of a state law by the state authorities.

This was a case in reference to the Florence bridge litigation, and grew out of an Alabama state law which prohibited the charging of excess rates. The law was violated, however, and indictments were found in many cases. The federal court then intervened to prevent the execution of the law.

In this case Justice Harlan, of the United States supreme court, held that the lower federal court had the right to interfere, and his decision was taken as a state victory. Solicitor Heflin claims that the case in reference to the Florence bridge litigation is the same as that of the L. & N. which is now before the federal court.

Fell to Death From Precipice.

Canon City, Colo., Aug. 21.—Miss Eugenia Goold, aged 30, a trained nurse, fell off a 20-foot precipice on the north side of Twin Sisters mountain in the Sangre de Christo range 8 miles south of Howard, Fremont county, and was instantly killed. Only one person, Adolphus Latham, of Howard, the young woman's companion, witnessed the accident.

plications. Three weeks ago he was stricken with what proved his fatal illness. Surrounded by his devoted wife and three sons and their families, attended by competent and untiring trained nurses, day and night, watched by skilled and sympathetic physicians, without a murmur, with a quiet steadfastness of faith, and a gentle, restfulness in the promises of that God whom he knew and whom he had trusted for more than seventy years, he sank out of death into the life more abundant. His last quoted text, and a favorite with him, was Paul's affirmation of triumph: 'For me to live is Christ, to die is gain.' One of his favorite hymns, 'Asleep in Jesus,' was repeated, as a child tired of his day's play falls at eventide into his mother's arms to say: 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'

"The aged old woman who walked by his side, for more than fifty-four years, a loving, painstaking, self-sacrificing, dutiful wife and mother, remains, but is supported in her grief by the unseen arm of her Lord and King, and by the tender ministrations of her sons.

"A large circle of friends will read these lines with moistened eyes and a flood of tender memories will go out in loving sympathy to those who mourn their loss in the departure of this truly noble and good man."

Funeral at Micanopy.

The remains were taken to Micanopy on Tuesday, where they were laid to rest in the family burying ground in the afternoon, under the beautiful and impressive Masonic ritual. Rev. J. L. Z. Barrs, a close friend of the deceased for many years, officiated as the minister.

A large crowd of the friends of the deceased were present to pay their last and respects.

To the bereaved widow and family The Sun extends sincere sympathy.

STUMP PULLING AN EASY THING

Contractor Hodgson Pulls Up Huge Trees With Great Ease.

THE WORK IS DONE QUICKLY

From Three to Five Minutes Only Required to Uproot the Monsters of the Forest—Effective Work of Clearing a Public Right-of-Way.

The Sun representative, together with County Commissioner C. C. Pedrick and Photographer James F. Smith, visited the scene of road-building east of the city, on the Prairie Creek road, Wednesday morning, when Contractor Thomas L. Hodgson demonstrated how easily and quickly a right-of-way could be cleared of stumps and trees by the aid of his stump-puller, which has been working on the right-of-way for the past few days.

Mr. Hodgson, who is using a Monarch puller, declares he can pull any stump or tree in Florida, and, judging from what was seen on the occasion of this visit, we believe he is right.

As a demonstration of how easy the problem was, Mr. Hodgson hooked his cable around an oak tree about twenty-two inches in diameter, and, with the aid of two mules, which furnished the power, he uprooted the tree and pulled it out of the way in less than five minutes.

Mr. Hodgson is working a few hundred yards ahead of the road gang, clearing the rigth-of-way of all stumps and trees. He is making a broad, clean opening, and the road, when completed, will be entirely clear of any obstacles.

The road gang, under the supervision of J. R. Emerson, is also doing some fine work. The gang is now within a short distance of Prairie Creek bridge, and, under fair conditions, should reach that point in a few days.

The material employed on this road is clay and pebbles, which makes a very hard and durable surface.

As a whole, Mr. Emerson is demonstrating the fact that he knows a thing or two about road-building, and with Hodgson to clear the way and Emerson to follow, the county has a team from which it secures good service.

Mr. Smith secured several views of the stump-puller and its work.

St. Augustine Team Wires That It Is Impossible to Come.

There was considerable disappointment among the baseball enthusiasts Wednesday, the occasion being a message from the St. Augustine baseball team expressing regrets, but stating that it would be impossible for them to come to Gainesville at this time.

This team was scheduled to play two games with the Oak Halls here, today and tomorrow, and the local fans had anticipated the events with a great deal of enthusiasm. An effort will be made to secure a game with Jacksonville within the next two or three days.

Old Landmark Gone.

The small building between the Dutton Bank and the United States land office, which has been a familiar sight for a quarter of a century or more, and which has been for many years occupied by C. D. Schafer, the stonecutter, has given way to more modern ideas, as the building has been torn down, preparatory to the enlarging of the Dutton Bank building.

It is understood that the steps leading to the second floor will be transferred to the outside of the building, the space on the interior being used to enlarge the facilities of the bank.

New Gainesville Directory.

Jesse E. Burtz, publisher of the Gainesville Directory, is now working on the edition for 1907-8, but, owing to the great amount of work on this number, the same will not be before the public until the first of October.

Like the directory for 1905-6, this will be a work of art, and will prove of great benefit to the public, especially since there has been so many changes and extensions to the charter etc. The book will necessarily contain a greater number of pages than the current number, occasioned by the rapid growth of the city.

Weston-Hill Nuptials.

Information reached this city yesterday of the marriage of E. M. Weston and Miss Mamie Hill, both of this city, which occurred in Palatka some time during the day.

The contracting parties are well known and popular here. The groom is a young merchant who has made a success, while the bride is the eldest daughter of L. L. Hill, and was born and reared here.

The numerous friends of these young people wish them a long and happy married life.

Don't Be Blue

And lose all interest when help is within reach. Herbine will make that liver perform its duties properly. J. B. Vaughn, Elba, Ala., writes: "Being a constant sufferer from constipation and a disordered liver, I have found Herbine to be the best medicine, for these troubles, on the market. I have used it constantly. I believe it to be the best medicine of its kind, and I wish all sufferers from these troubles to know the good Herbine has done me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

MR. MERCHANT'S DEPARTURE.

Has Accepted Responsible Position on Faculty of Military College.

T. Curry Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Merchant of this city, and a graduate of Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., last term, has been tendered and has accepted a responsible position on the faculty of the Horner Military Institute, Oxford, N. C.

After spending his vacation here, Mr. Merchant left Tuesday for the Jamestown Exposition. He will also visit Washington, Baltimore and other points, after which he will return to Oxford, where he will assume the chair of Greek and German in the Horner institution.

Mr. Merchant is yet a very young man, and his appointment to this position is indeed an honor of which himself, his parents and his friends may feel proud. It goes without saying that he will fill the position with eminent satisfaction, both to himself and the faculty.

HAS A GOOD JOB.

G. W. Pendarvis Has Accepted Management of Thomasville Office.

G. W. Pendarvis, for the past year one of the efficient operators in the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has severed his connection here for the purpose of accepting a position as manager of the Thomasville office of that company, and himself and wife have gone to the Georgia city, where he will assume his duties at once.

Mr. Pendarvis has proven himself not only a competent operator, but an obliging gentleman as well, and he will be missed greatly by the patrons of the office here.

Fletcher Cromwell Improving.

Fletcher Cromwell, who, with his mother, left here a few weeks ago for the mountains of North Carolina, for the benefit of his health, is improving, which will be gratifying information to his friends here.

Mr. Cromwell and mother are living in a tent within a few miles of Asheville. This method was suggested by the physicians attending the young man, in order that he might get at all times the benefit of absolutely pure air, which has proved a great benefit to him.

Death of Joseph McEwen.

Joseph McEwen, sixty-five years of age, died at his home in Lochloosa Saturday, and was buried Sunday afternoon. Deceased was a native of South Carolina, but had been a citizen of Florida for many years. He was a Confederate veteran, and rendered good and faithful service.

Deceased is survived by a widow and eight children, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

Beautiful Women.

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion, make all women beautiful. Take a small dose of Herbine after each meal; it will prevent constipation and help digest what you have eaten. Mrs. Wm. M. Stroud, Midlothian, Tex., writes, May 31, 1901: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we ever used for constipation, bilious fever and malaria." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

ALACHUA SENDS FIRST BALE TO SAVANNAH

Said to Be Extra Fine Quality of Florida Long Staple.

WAS SHIPPED BY J. C. HAILE

To W. W. Gordon & Co., Weighing 363 Pounds—Was Dry and Generally Superior to the Usual Bale Received at That Point.

Alachua county in general, and Gainesville in particular, has again come to the front in the matter of furnishing the first bale of Sea Island cotton to the Savannah market, as the following from Wednesday's Times-Union will show:

"The first bale of Florida's Sea Island cotton for the season of 1907 reached Savannah Monday morning consigned to Messrs W. W. Gordon & Company, and was shipped by J. C. Haile, from Gainesville, Fla., last Saturday.

"The bale, according to reports from Savannah, was of unusually good quality of long staple, and was classed as extra fine East Florida. It weighed 363 pounds, was dry and generally superior to the usual bales received at that point.

"What was thought would be the firts bale of Florida Sea Island to reach Savannah this season, was due yesterday morning, and reports from Savannah were to the effect that the bale would be disposed of in front of the cotton exchange yesterday, at auction.

"The bale was sold for the benefit of the Columbia College at Lake City. The bale was sent to Savannah in the belief that it would bring a better price than had it been sold in Florida. This bale was grown by J. R. Williams of Alachua and was shipped to George F. Armstrong, of the Mutual Mining Company of Savannah.

"Just what price the bale of Sea Island brought in Savannah yesterday afternoon could not be ascertained, but it is generally believed that it brought a good price, as the proceeds went to the new college at Lake City.

"The first two bales were received in Savannah last year on August 18, one from Georgia and one from Florida, the Georgia bale being consigned to W. W. Gordon & Co. In 1905 the first bale was from Florida and reached Savannah on August 8. The previous year the first bale was from Georgia and came on August 13."

Georgia Tax Rate 5 Mills.

Atlanta, Aug. 21—While it has not been formally declared by the governor and comptroller general, there is no longer any question that the state tax rate this year will be five mills, the highest rate permitted under the state constitution.. The general assembly has given the governor the power to go to that limit, and under the present financial emergency, there is no question that it will have to be levied.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, [illegible] "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

THE NEWS FROM BELL.

First Cotton Sold to J. A. Ward at a Good Price—Other Notes.

Bell, August 21.—A considerable storm from the West passed through our midst, doing some damage to fences, trees and cotton.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acrid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of roots, herbs and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free. The Age of an Oyster.

It is just as easy to tell the age of an oyster by looking at its shell as it it to ascertain the age of a horse by examining its teeth or a tree by inspecting the circles revealed by the ax or saw when it is laid low. When the oyster is six months old it is as big as a dime, when one year old it will cover a silver half dollar, and when two years old will be about the circumference of a silver dollar. The oyster, unlike the crab, is not obliged to seek new quarters or build a new house every time he grows appreciably. The extensions that he puts on his house are clearly marked by a well defined ridge. Oysters are esteemed to be at their best when between four and five years of age, and the planters endeavor to protect the beds for that length of time. Conscientious oyster men—that is, men who are not inclined to kill the goose that lays the golden egg—always return to the bed oysters that are too young.—Pearson's.

Easily Distinguished.

Clara—There should be a law passed compelling men to wear some distinct dress to denote whether they are married or not.

Maude—Oh, that isn't necessary.

Clara—Why not?

Maude—When a man is seen on the street in a last year's hat and baggy trousers, it is safe to bet that he's married.—Chicago News.

Modesty.

True modesty is a self-forgetting grace and only flourishes in the proper place. But counterfeit is blind and skulks through fear, where 'tis a shame to be ashamed to appear; humility, the parent of the first, the last by vanity produced and nurs't.—Cowper.

Drugged to Death.

Steubenville, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Mr. Silvio Circa, aged 22, a tinworker of Wheeling, Pa., was found dead in an upper room of the city building. All indications are that he was drugged while drinking and placed there to die. The authorities are conducting an investigation.

Leaped into a Well.

Richman, Ky., Aug. 20.—Mrs. Alexander Rice, aged 30 years, committed suicide by jumping into the well. The cause is not made public. She had often threatened to end her life.

THE LIMIT OF VISION.

How Far Can the Normal Eye See on Land or on Sea?

There is absolutely no limit to the normal vision if the sight be unobstructed. Yet we can see the stars, which are trillions of miles away, while we cannot see a tree twenty miles distant. Why? It is true that all objects diminish in apparent size in a direct proportion to distance, but that is not the only reason. The chief reason is that our vision is obstructed by the curvature of the earth. A writer in Popular Science News gives some figures to show how great this curvature is.

It is often a matter of interest and importance to know how far we can see from any given height or, conversely, how far one must be above the earth to see an object at a given distance. The exact calculation of these figures would require the use of very complex formulae, but for practical use two very simple rules will suffice.

The distance in miles at which an object upon the surface of the earth is visible is equal to the square root of one and one-half times the height of the observer in feet above the surface and conversely.

The height in feet to which an observer must be placed to see a distinct object is equal to two-thirds the square of the distance in miles. For instance, if the observer is in the rigging of a ship 100 feet above the water, how far distant is the horizon—that is, how far could an object floating in the water be visible before being hidden by the convexity of the earth? One and one-half times 100 is 150, and the square root of 150 is approximately twelve and one-half; therefore the horizon is twelve and one-half miles distant.

As the deck of smaller vessels, like pleasure yachts, is rarely more than ten feet above the water, it follows that the limit of vision from that point is less than four miles in every direction.

An illustration of the second rule may be given as follows: A building is thirty-three miles away. How high a hill must one climb in order to be able to see it? As the square of the distance equals 1,089 and two-thirds of that number equals 726, it follows that we must climb a hill 726 feet high before we are able to see the building, even with the most powerful telescope.

Usually, however, the height of the object as well as that of the observer must be taken into consideration, but this simply requires the duplication of the problem. For instance, the Washington monument is 552 feet high. At what height must an observer fifty miles away be in order to see the top of it? Supposing the observer to stand upon the ground, we find by the first rule that he could just see the top twenty-nine miles away, and to overcome the remaining twenty-one miles, due to the convexity of the earth, he would by rule second have to climb to the height of 294 feet.

If we apply similar calculations to the Eiffel tower, the highest artificial structure in the world, we obtain some interesting results. Assuming the height to be just 1,000 feet, we find that, standing at the top, we enjoy a circle of vision bounded by a horizon thirty-nine miles distant and that if another similar tower should ever be erected it could be placed over seventy-eight miles away before the rays of the electric lights on their summits would be eclipsed by the intervening earth.

From the summit of Mount Everest, in the Himalayas (17,000 feet), one could see nearly 200 miles, provided the air was clear enough, which would rarely be the case.

Business Before Pleasure.

They were performers in the amateur theatricals. During the progress of the play at one time, while their presence was not needed on the stage, they sat together behind the scenes. She looked beautiful indeed in an old fashioned gown and powdered hair, and he, in court costume of more than a century ago, was the beau ideal of a cavalier.

For some time he had been very attentive to her, and, although people had frequently remarked upon his devotion, he had not come to the point of proposing, but as they sat behind the scenes he felt that an opportune moment had arrived.

"Marie," he said, "you may not have perceived my liking, but I cannot delay. I—I want to ask you to—to be"—

Just then the prompter called the girl's name, but she never stirred.

"That's your cue," faltered the interrupted lover.

"Yes," she answered calmly enough, laying her head on his arm, "but never mind the cue. You seemed very earnest just now, and I want you to go on. What were you going to say?"—Pearson's Weekly.

A Mean Dig.

Myrtle—Look what a lovely diamond engagement ring George has given me. Estelle—Yes; it's lovely. It nearly broke my heart when I sent it back to him.

ARTIFICIAL PEARLS.

What a Little Silver Fish Taught a French Beadmaker.

"I'll tell you," said a jeweler, "how the wonderfully perfect artificial pearl came to be invented.

"A rich French beadmaker, Moise Jaquin he lived in the seventeenth century, found a pond in his garden covered one morning with a lovely silvery luster. Alarmed, he called his gardener, who said it was nothing—some alewives had got crushed; that was all.

"A[illegible] alewives, fish, bleaks, the [illegible]. The gardener explained that if you crushed them they always gave the water a pearly sheen like that. Jaquin put on his thinking cap.

"For six years he worked with beads and bleaks, wasting millions of bean, but finally he achieved success. He learned how to extract the pearly luster from the bleaks' scales and to cover a glass bead with it.

"What he did and his method is still used—was to scrape the scales from the fish, wash and rub them and save the water. The water, decanted, gave off a lustrous fluid of the thickness of oil, a veritable pearl paint, a magic fluid that imparts a lovely pearly sheen to everything it is applied to.

"It takes 1,000 bleaks to yield an ounce of this pearl paint."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

CIRCUS RIDERS.

They Earn Good Salaries, but Their Careers Are Short.

A man horseback rider receives from $75 to $125 a week, and his career as a principal rider lasts about ten years. It is short not so much because these men get stiff and lose their agility as because they lose their nerve. Nearly all circus folk marry young, and with their added responsibilities comes a lively sense of danger which they ignored in younger days. A man rider who cannot turn a somersault on a horse cannot command more than $50 a week. A woman rider who can perform this feat gets from $150 to $200 a week if she is a finished rider.

This isn't much when all the disadvantages of the calling are taken into consideration, but it should be remembered that all the expenses are paid, including the care, feeding and of course the transportation of their horses. All they have to provide is their own clothing. For the men riders clothes do not constitute much of a factor, and the women nearly always make their own, except those provided by the management.

French Rags High Priced.

A collector of rags offered the manager of a large boarding house a certain price for a bag of wornout linen.

"These rags are worth more than that," said the shrewd landlord. "I run several houses in this neighborhood, and all are occupied exclusively by French guests."

The dealer apparently considered that remark sufficiently explanatory. He cast a hasty glance upon the contents of the bag, then raised the price.

"And he could well afford to raise it, too," said the landlord. "Even at that rate he will make money off the things. French rags the world over bring a higher price than any other. The reason why? French people wear a better quality of linen and their castoff garments are in demand by all manufacturers of high grade paper."—New York Press.

The Congregation Smiled.

Two country clergymen had agreed to exchange pulpits on a certain date. One of them made the following solemn announcement to his congregation on the Sabbath previous to the event:

"My dear brethren and sisters, I have the pleasure of stating that on next Sunday morning the Rev. Zachariah B. Day will preach for you. Let us now sing two verses of hymn No. 480, 'That Awful Day Will Surely Come.'"

And it took him some time to discover why the congregation smiled.

The First Boat.

At first when a man wanted to cross a deep stream he was compelled to swim across. But man at best is a poor swimmer, and it was not long before he invented a better method of traveling on water. A log drifting in a stream furnished the hint. By resting his body upon the log and plashing with his hands and feet he found he could move along faster and easier. Thus the log was the first boat and the human arm was the first oar.—S. E. Forman in St. Nicholas.

Stood by His Theory.

Thales, the ancient philosopher, declared that there was no difference between life and death. "Why, then," cried one of those to whom the remark was made, "don't you put an end to your life?" "Because," was the reply, "there is no difference."

A Test of Courage.

Courage consists not in blindly overlooking danger, but in meeting it with the eyes open.—Richter.

Tell a man that he is brave and you help him to become so.—Carlyle.

Secretary Taft Defends Policies of President Roosevelt.

SPEAKS AT COLUMBUS, OHIO

Secretary of War Is Heart and Soul With the President in His Support of Measures Advocated by the Latter.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Secretary of War William H. Taft, delivered before the Buckeye Republican club, here Monday night an address, which was a comprehensive statement of his position as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination.

The speech was largely a defense of the policies of President Roosevelt, which Secretary Taft expects, if elected, to carry forward. In addressing his fellow citizen of Ohio and the repuolicans of the whole country, he made it plain that he was heart and soul with the president in his support of the measures which have come to be known as the "Roosevelt policies." While insisting that these measures had already been productive of much good to the country, he pointed out how existing statutes could be amended in order to further perfect them and make them more effective.

The following is an outline of the views expressed by Mr. Taft:

"I think the imprisonment of one or two managers of unlawful trusts would have a most healthy effect all throughout the country.

"The states can best remedy the dangers of too great accumulation of wealth in one hand by controlling the descent and evolution of property and they ought to do so.

"In times of great national need, an income tax would be of great assistance in furnishing means to carry on the government.

"The evil of eliminating competition ought to be restrained by making it unlawful for an interstate railway to acquire stock in a competing line.

"An interstate road should not be permitted to issue stock or bonds * * * except after a certificate by the commission that the securities are issued with the approval of the commission for a legitimate railroad purpose.

"Efficient regulation is the very antidote and preventative of socialism and government ownership.

"The time is near at hand for an amendment to the anti-trust law* * * making clearer the distinction between lawful agreements reasonably restraining trade and those which are pernicious in their effect.

"Appeals to judicial remedies (by railroads) should be limited in such a way that parties will not use them merely to delay and so clog efficient and just executive or legislative action.

"Tariff revision is to be by the republican party and is not to be a departure from the protective principle, but in conformity to it.

"It would be not only unwise, but unsafe, for the party to fail in its next national platfor mto pledge itself to a revision of the tariff as soon after the next presidential election as possible.

"The suppression of monopolies and the abolition of secret rebates and discriminating privileges by railroads will lessen the possibility of such enormous accumulations as those which have already taken place."

CENTRAL'S BIG SHOPS.

Thousand Workmen Rre Rushing the Work at Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 21.—Work on the shops of the Central railway in Macon has assumed large proportions, and within a few weeks contractors and carpenters will have the greater portion of the rough work done.

The machinery for the gigantic buildings is already being ordered as rapidly as possible for it to be put in place. Hundreds of workmen are daily engaged in erecting the big structure. The foundations are already in place, and one inspecting the work is readily convinced, that this is the largest enterprise within the borders of the Central City.

Within twelve months the Central officials will be able to secure the construction of any kind of railway implement, and will be able to make any repairs that will be needed for both locomotive and car. It has been intended that all conveniences be secured in the construction of the shops, and when completed, this will be one of the greatest railway repairing centers in the south.

More than one thousand workmen will be daily engaged. Nearly this number are already at the different duties connected with the erection of the buildings. When completed the factory chimney will tower above the city more than 175 feet, and experts are already engaged for the careful construction of this portion of the plant. All details of the business connected with the acquiring of shop site and yards have practically been completed, and the transfer of more than $50,000 worth of lands to the Central last week in the vicinity by the Empire Land Company, of Savannah, Ga., completed the land transactions necessary for the yards.

Reid Unveils Tablet.

Salisbury, England, Aug. 21.—In the ancient and beautiful Salisbury cathedral Monday, Ambassador White law Reid unveiled a handsome marble tablet in memory of those killed in the terrible accident a year ago, when, by the wrecking of the American line boat train, 28 persons, mostly Americans, lost their lives. The ceremonies, the impressiveness of which was emphasized by the presence of the widows and children of the trainmen killed in the disaster, all in the deepest bourning, was attended by many dignitaries of the church.

Telegrapher Aged Only 10.

Celina, Tex., Aug. 21.—Guy C. Clark, a telegraph operator and assistant station agent of the Frisco railroad, at this place, is only 10 years of age. He receives a salary of $25 a month from the road, and is on the list of regular employes. Celina has a population of about 1,000 people and considerable business is handled at this station. The child operator and agent performs the duties of his position with the correctness and faithfulness of a man.

Feud Has Tragic End.

Huntsville, Ala., Aug. 21.—Charles Drake, a well known young farmer, was killed Sunday by Houston Clark, a former friend, at the home of J. Overton, at Poplar Ridge. Clark came to Huntsville and surrendered to the sheriff, who placed him in jail. He would say nothing of the affair, except that he acted in self-defense. The killing is believed to be the result of a feud of long standing between the Drake and Clark families.

Fought on a Steamboat.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 21.—A negro excursion to Beaufort proved a bloody affair. When the boat returned 12 wounded negroes had their wounds sewn up by surgeons. Others had slighter injuries that did not require the surgeon's attention. One of the negroes had 12 stabs in the back made by a short-bladed knife. Razors were the weapons most generally used, although one man had a hatpin run entirely through his arm.

ANTI-CLERICAL RIOTS

Outburst Overspreads the Greater Part of Italy.

PRELATES MUCH ALARMED

Rome, Aug. 21.—The wave of anticlericalism is increasing in violence. Nearly all the prelates of the vatican go about the city fearing either insult or assault. Cardinal Merry del Val, with Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college, while passing through Marino in a carriage were furiously assaulted by a band of 30 anarchists, who were shouting: "Down with the vatican! Long live the Revolution!"

The anarchists were armed with knives and clubs. They surrounded the carriage despite a strong guard of detectives and carbineers. One anarchist swung a club at the cardinal's head, but a detective, quickly interposing, received the blow on his chest and was dangerously injured.

The pope, when informed, sorrowfully said: "The world will now see how impossible it will be for me to leave the vatican."

The outburst of anticlericalism has overspread all Italy. It shows, despite the improved relations between the vatican and the quirinal, that there is still a large section of the radical populace which is eager at all times to attack the church. The events of this summer have favored the anticlericals, wherefore, after a long period of tranquility, during which the church and the government have rendered one another reciprocal aid, the mobs are now burning the churches and assaulting the prelates. Fortunately parliament is not in session now, else an unforeseen crisis might arise. For Italy is peculiarly susceptible to sudden ebullitions of public anger.

The unfortunate situation is still further complicated at this time by the issuance from the vatican of a communication which is destined to arouse serious controversy. It affirms that either Catholics or non-Catholics who have interpreted the general policy of the pope toward the Italian government as implying that he is in accord with or has any confidence in any cabinet or political party misunderstand the pontiff's position. The vatican, it is asserted, sees no need at this time of changing its policy toward the government, whatever attitude the government may assume.

It is reported that Pope Pius is about to follow up his recent syllabus on so-called moderation in the faith with an encylical condemning modernist errors.

PILGRIM FATHERS.

Cornerstone Laid To Monument Commemorating Their Landing.

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 21.—The laying of the corner stone of the Cape Cod Pilgrim memorial monument in the presence of President Roosevelt, Governor Guild and distinguished guests, completed Tuesday the foundation of one of the most imposing structures along the Atlantic Coast, commemorating the first landing within a few feet of its base of the pilgrim fathers.

Rebels Are Slaughtered.

Casa Blanca, Aug. 21.—A large force of Moors suddenly descended upon the French camp early Monday morning and attacked the sleeping soldiers. The troops rallied quickly, though at first taken by surprise. The Moors were repulsed with considerable slaughter, leaving many dead and wounded in their flight.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 21.—Just after making all arrangements for his funeral, even giving the names of pallbearers and singers, Captain Elijah Blackford, 83 year old, died suddenly of apoplexy.

TRAGEDY IN G. A. R. HALL.

Victoria, Mo., Aug. 21.—Captain Charles E. Waters, commander of the G. A. R. post here, is held by the coroner on the charge of murder, as a result of the fatal wound he inflicted with a bayonet in the abdomen of Colonel George W. Patten, former post commander, at a meeting of the veterans.

The fight followed a quarrel between the present commander and the former commander of James N. Whitehead Post No. 121, and, according to witnesses, the enmity between the two veterans was brought about over a disagreement as to the duties of Patten in arranging for the sale of concessions at the annual picnic of the post, to be held in a few days.

Adjutant C. W. Lanham, one of the principal witnesses at the inquest, testified that Patten entered the hall near the close of the meeting and, with a stick, advanced toward Captain Waters, roundly abusing the commander. Hot words between the two veterans followed and Patten attempted to strike Waters. The commander evaded the blow, but the stick was broken when it struck a chair. Several comrades interfered. Patten returned again in a threatening manner, the witness said, and after more hot words had been exchanged and Patten had again furnished the broken stick, Captain Waters grasped an old army musket from the wall and pointing the bayonet at Patten, braced himself, as he had 40 years ago when meeting charges of confederates, and cried: "Let him come!"

Patten, it was stated, rushed at the commander with the stick and Waters thrust the bayonet three inches into his abdomen.

Patten did not realize that he was injured until he was on the street; then he collapsed, dying later.

Waters is now in jail at Hillsboro, the county seat of Jefferson county.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Money Shortage Caused by Rapid Construction.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—Conditions on the Panama canal have reached a state of gravity, due to the fact that construction work is developing faster than was contemplated when the estimates for expenditures during the fiscal year 1908 was made nearly a year ago

The estimate is made that about $9,000,000 in excess of the appropriations could be used to advantage in pushing forward the work during the present year, and Colonel Goethals, the engineer in charge, thinks it would be in the interest of true economy to proceed along this basis, and ask congress at its next session to make good the deficiency as the argument is made that with the present organization and progress the waterway can be completed more rapidly than by restraining expenditures within the appropriations now available.

Already reports show that the monthly estimated expenditure for labor is being considerably exceeded, and work at the Gatun dam has progressed faster than was anticipated.

Haste Costs a Life.

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 21.—A desire to be first off an excursion boat caused the death of Harry Blakeley of Palisade avenue Blakeley went on the Hibernian excursion which left the city for points of interest, and when the boats returning approached the pier, he jumped from the barge to the Grand Republic, but fell into the water. His head struck the boat and he sank. Jerry Mulvill jumped in the water after him and had to be rescued by others on the boat.

China's Unsettled State.

kTsoi, Aug. 21.—Private advices from Pekin forecast a gloomy future for China, owing to the unsettled condition of politics and the absence of the mind that has ruled the country for so many years, an incurable disease having incapacitated the dowager empress, hitherto sole mistress of China. The increase in the historic animosity between the Manchus and the mandarins makes the establishment of political order impossible.

DAYTONA BEACH NOTES.

Interesting Batch of News Regarding Gainesville People There.

Daytona Beach, August 19.—A great many Gainesville people are pleasantly located in cottages and boarding houses on the beach, and all are enjoying themselves in some way or other. Bathing, fishing, bicycling, automobiling, driving and trips down the river seem to be the most popular. The children and young people have the skating rink and dance hall.

Also, there is a very nice church near the beach, and the Gainesville people, as usual, show their appreciation by attending the meetings each Sabbath.

A party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Gracy and others went down the river on the 15th. On the 16th another party, with quite a number of ladies and gentlemen, availed themselves of the same pleasure.

The first bass caught from Keating's pier was brought in by Mr. Brown of Crescent City, a retired turpentine operator. In the afternoon of the same day T. E. McDonald of Rocky Point brought in the second bass. Both of these fish were of one size, weighing about seven pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. McGriff of Micanopy are here. Mrs. McGriff landed some fine drum on the 15th.

We have a delightful east breeze, and the surf is very fine for fishing and bathing.

The moonlight on the ocean is grand, and once seen will not be forgotten.

Some more of our Gainesville people are coming down today and will arrive in time for the beautiful moonlight nights.

Mrs. C. W. McDonald and two daughters, Miss Ida and little Miss Myrtle, are expected today. Mr. C. W. McDonald and daughter, Miss Ruth, are already here, Mr. McDonald being at the Surf Crest, a very popular hostelry, and Miss Ruth visiting her friend, Miss Eva Futch, who has been here several weeks.

Mr. G. S. Merchant and two daughters, Misses Margaret and Sallie, are pleasantly located at the Surf Crest.

We are loosing Mr. and Mrs. Gracy and children today, they having taken the 7 o'clock train for home.

Miss Ethel Wimberly of Cedar Key is visiting the family of T. E. McDonald.

A Methodist Baptism.

The services at the First Methodist church Sunday evening were unusually impressive. They comprised a song service of twenty minutes or a half hour, and an interesting sermon by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Nixon, which was followed by a baptismal ceremony, C. C. Cagle having been received into the church.

Owing to the fact that there were no services at the First Presbyterian church in the evening, the congregation at the Methodist church was quite large.

COUNTY NORMAL OPENED MONDAY

Principal Cassels Feels Encouraged Over Opening Day.

GREAT WORK IS NOW EXPECTED.

The Students Got Down to Work With a Vim and Determination, and the Term Promises to Prove of Great Benefit to Those Who Attend.

The first session of the County Annual Normal, which institution was ordered at the last meeting of the Board of Public Instruction of Alachua county to be held each year, began Monday morning, with Prof. W. H. Cassels, principal of the Alachua High school, one of the most competent educators in the county, in charge.

The session, which will run until, and including, September 2, is being conducted at the Gainesville Graded and High school building, and, considering the fact that such short notice was given, together with the fact that the State Normal has just closed, the enrollment at the opening was very encouraging, and Prof. Cassels states that he expects the list to increase from day to day, as many who have written their intention of coming did not arrive in time for the first day.

As has already been stated, the members of the School Board are heartily in sympathy with the State Normal and its purposes, that institution having the individual endorsement of every member of the board; but this Annual County Normal, which will hereafter be held in May, is destined for the enlightenment of those desiring to teach in Alachua county only. In other words, it will be merely a county adjunct to the State Normal.

"The attendance at the opening was really better than I had anticipated," remarked Professor Cassels, "owing principally to the fact that the State Normal has just closed, and also the short notice given those desirous of availing themselves of the opportunity. I feel that the term, however, is going to prove of great benefit, as those who have enrolled at once entered upon their work with a determination to accomplish something. I am expecting the number of students to be considerably increased within the next two or three days, when we will get down to business right."

Immediately following the County Normal the examination of applicants for positions as teacher will be held. This examination will begin on the morning of September 3, continuing for four days.

Among those who are attending the County Normal are Misses Anna Taylor, Eddie Reddick and Lida Bowers, and H. S. Glazier of Gainesville; Miss Lontine Barrow, Levyville; Miss Hattie Hawthorn, Hawthorn; Miss Jessie Hawkins, Alachua; Miss Lois Mitchell, Wannee; J. M. Patterson, LaCrosse.

First Presbyterian Church.

The announcement that Dr. Andrew Sledd, president of the University of Florida, would preach at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, attracted a good congregation, as Dr. Sledd is an eloquent, earnest and impressive speaker, and our good people never miss an opportunity to hear him. The result was that the edifice was comfortably filled.

The music at this service was also good, the new organ now being in fine condition.

Returns to Hawthorn.

J. V. Brown remits The Sun a dollar for subscription, being a renewal, and states that he is again located at Hawthorn, his former home, where he is enjoying improved health.

Mr. Brown's numerous friends throughout the East End have missed him, and gladly welcome his return to Hawthorn.

SPICY AFFIDAVITS REGARDING STROUSE

Well Known Evangelist Drawn Into Close Strings About Women.

CHAUTAUQUA LEASE REVOKED.

People of North Carolina Not Satisfied With the Manner in Which He Has Acted, and Brought Matter into Court, But Strouse Was Absent.

There seems to be "something doing" at Hendersonville, N. C., as will be seen by the following dispatch, which is a special to The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer of the 17th inst.:

"Asheville, August 16.—Highly sensational was the hearing before Judge Pritchard here this afternoon on the injunction recently granted Rev. Dr. Strouse, evangelist and chautauqua manager, against the auditorium company and its officers of Hendersonville. At the hearing today many affidavits were submitted attacking Dr. Strouse's character and alleging that he was a man unfit to conduct a religious chautauqua. Incidentally Dr. Strouse was not present. It was stated that he had gone from Atlantic City to Battle Creek, Mich., that he was suffering from an attack of the heart and that he was a very sick man.

"The hearing today was a continuation of previous hearings. Last week Dr. Strouse, through his attorneys, applied to Judge Pritchard for an injunction restraining the auditorium company of Hendersonville and its officers from interfering with him in holding a proposed chautauqua scheduled to commence Sunday, August 18. It was alleged by Dr. Strouse that he had leased the auditorium for every summer for ten years for the purpose of holding these chautauquas and that he had been ejected.

"The hearing was set for early this week and at that time affidavits were offered and the defendants cited to appear and show cause why the restraining order should not be made permanent. Judge Moore, of counsel for Dr. Strouse, asked leave to see the affidavits and subsequently declared that the affidavits were of such a serious and sensational nature that he desired further time to communicate with his client and have him here to make answer. The hearing was postponed until today, but Dr. Strouse was still absent. The affidavits submitted today, which seriously attack Dr. Strouse, were by Hendersonville's most prominent citizens

"The affidavits allege that Dr. Strouse's conduct while at Hendersonville was calculated to injure the cause of religion; that there were unsavory reports which connected the names of the chautauqua manager and married women guests of the hotel at which Strouse stayed; also there were affidavits which attacked Dr. Strouse's veracity.

"S. T. Wheeler's affidavit alleged that Dr. Strouse's conduct was frivolous and pompus; that bad reports were caused by his conduct; that he was too familiar with certain visiting married women. The whole purport of the affidavits was that Dr. Strouse was not fit to conduct a chautauqua and that he did not have the moral support of the town and that, therefore the undertaking would fail.

"The hearing was not continued today. It will be resumed tomorrow. A large delegation of Hendersonville people came over to attend the hearing. The affair has created great interest in Hendersonville, where it is proposed to conduct a chautauqua, commencing Sunday, independent of Strouse."

It is hard for Dr. Strouse's friends here to believe that he would be guilty of any of the charges as are above stated, and he yet has the confidence of his followers here, who will not believe him guilty until he is proven so.

As a worker, Dr. Strouse has proved himself a great success. He is the founder of the Florida Winter Bible Conference, the Christian Workers' Institute, and the Gainesville Winter Chautauqua. His interests have always been with these intsitutions, and so earnest and persistent have been his efforts that it is impossible to believe that there is anything wrong with him and his objects.

Dr. Strouse has accomplished a great deal for Gainesville in establishing these institutions, and it is to be regretted that he has been dragged into this public mess.

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING RASH

Face and Feet Covered—Rest Broken and Would Cry Until Tired Out—"Cradle Cap" Added to Baby's Torture—Tries Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SPEEDY CURE

"My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cause her to be broken of her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always used Cuticura Soap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as "cradle cap" from her head, and it worked like a charm as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Now I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand in case of any little rash or insect bites, as it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of helping other suffering babies. Mrs. Hattie Currier, Thomaston, Me., June 9, 1906."

THE NEWS FROM ARNO.

Sunshine Welcomed by Farmers—Personal Items of Interest.

Arno, August 19.—The past three days of sunshine were very good for our cotton farmers. As there had been so much rain for ten days or two weeks much of the cotton was shedding its fruit very badly. Some of the best farmers estimate that there will not be more than a half crop of cotton. The stalk is fine but the fruit is thin on the stalk.

Misses Annie and Ida Price will be at home for about three weeks, which will be greatly enjoyed by their parents and many friends in the community.

Misses Reta Clark and Nora Barry have accepted positions as teachers in West Florida, and they are both teaching a few weeks of summer school before the regular term begins. They report being well pleased.

Miss Annie Price will teach in Polk county.

Paul Henderson returned home today from an extended visit to his sister, Mrs. John F. Cox, of Lakeland.

Our community is remarkably free from sickness so far this year. There has been no serious sickness for many months.

F. P. Henderson will visit Gainesville Monday on a business trip, and from there he will visit the peach orchards around Theresa and Brooklyn, introducing the red fungus to kill the San Jose scale. He has examined most of the orchards in the State, and finds they are all more or less infected with this scale. He claims the red fungus, the natural enemy of the San Jose scale, is by far the cheapest and most successful remedy for the scale, and its thorough introduction the only thing that can save the peach industry of the State.

Jack Haile to Rebuild.

J. M. Haile, who had the misfortune a few days ago to lose his elegant home and barn, together with other outhouses, is determined not to be outdone by the fire fiend, and will at once rebuild.

Mr. Haile ordered material immediately after the fire and has already begun work on his barn. He expects to place a force of workmen on his home as soon as the proper material arrives.

This home was one of the most modern of country houses, and Mr. Haile proposes to replace it with a house just as good.

PEDRICK AND DAMPIER RAN AGAINST STUMP

Exorbitant Prices Are Wanted for Public Right-of-Way.

CHARGE FOR MATERIAL ALSO.

Commissioners Must Pay Five Cents a Load for Material to Construct Road to West, Hence Abandoned Plan to Go to Work Elsewhere.

Notwithstanding that ninety-five per cent. of the people of the State, including those of Alachua county, have arrived at the conclusion that hard roads are the proper thing, and one of the necessities of a modern time, there yet seems to be some objection, especially when the property of certain parties is involved.

Commissioners C. C. Pedrick and John G. Dampier, both of whom are good roads advocates, and both of whom devote much valuable time at a price which is no better than gratis, have been working for the past few days in selecting a right-of-way from Hogtown creek west, in the direction of Newberry, for the extension of the road which has already been constructed from Gainesville west to the creek. These officials have devoted their valuable time to this work, inspecting material along the route in the meantime, and just as they were about to order one of the road gangs to work one of the owners of the property through which they desired to pass, served notice of refusal to grant a right-of-way without compensation from the county, and also put the gentlemen on notice that the county must pay five cents a load for every load of deposit taken from the premises.

This information came as a kind of "jar" to the enterprising commissioners, and they at once realized that they had "run up" against a hard proposition, at the same time expressing surprise that any person should stand in the way of their efforts, especially at this time, when the people are clamoring for good roads.

Commissioners Dampier and Pedrick stated in regard to the matter that there were other routes upon which the people wanted hard roads, and that they would abandon the present plans and take up the work in another direction, as many property-owners will be glad to give the county the necessary right-of-way and all the material required. This means, evidently, that road building west will stop for the present, at least.

Mail Carrier Resigns.

Jesse Rainey, colored, for more than a quarter of a century the faithful transfer clerk of the United States mails between the postoffice and various depots, has resigned his position, and has retired to private life.

It was not because Jesse was not giving the most eminent satisfaction that he relinquished this position, but because of failing health. Indeed, Postmaster Lynch, Assistant Postmaster Bell and the entire force were sorry to see him leave, for he was always faithful, never tardy in all conditions of weather, and had become, virtually, a "part and parcel" of the postoffice here.

Jesse's resignation calls for another to take his place, and Postmaster Lynch states that the position will be let by bid. Those desiring to bid for same may get particulars by calling at the postoffice.

Miss Tebeau's School.

Attention is called to the advertisement announcing the opening of Miss Tebeau's boarding and day school, which occurs on September 16.

This excellent school is now beginning its thirty-fourth year under one management, and during that time Miss Tebeau has turned out some excellent scholars. It is one of the best private schools in the State, and enjoys a patronage, not only from Gainesville, but from surrounding towns.

Florida's celery crop is said to have brought the circulation of $400,000 in cash during the past season. Pretty good return from one crop.

Ground is being prepared for the celery truck growing in every section of the state, which will be on extensive scale this year.

R. Fitch, the former popular agent of the A. C. L. Railway at Live Oak, has been arrested on charge of embezzling $8,166 of the company's funds.

Many towns mighty have been frozen in Gainesville the present week, though during several days the mercury has been almost unendurable for all humanity in the west.

Even the messenger boys are in sympathy with the car conductors in probably a futile effort to get their boys back to work, hence nothing to it.

Advance reports on the Rhett Goode will patronized this year indicate many people who went elsewhere would have been glad to have but they remained in town and spent their vacation on the sands.

Almost every section of the State reports cases of the pestiferous mosquito being more numerous than for many years. They defy all efforts to exterminate them, and ten thousand seem to come to the funeral of every one killed.

Hon. John E. Beard, candidate for United States Senator, is making a tour of the State for the purpose of securing the acquaintance of the people. Senator Beard is a good and able man, but the people of Florida should not turn down Senator Mallory for any man in the State.

A recently compiled table of the gifts and benefactions of John D. Rockefeller shows that he has given to various colleges, churches and charitable agencies of $102,000,000. The institutions receiving the largest sums are the General Education Board, to which he has given $42,000,000, and the University of Chicago, to which he has given $34,000,000.

General Low, editor of The Bartow Courier-Informant, is eight times a grandpa, yet he declines to be "coaxed" into entering the race for superintendent of State schools. We don't blame you, General; there is more pleasure in having the arms of those little darlings entwined around your neck in your comfortable home than in holding all the offices in the State.

A special to The Pensacola Journal from Apalachicola announces the candidacy of J. F. C. Griggs of that city for the representative to Congress from the Third Congressional District. The city of Apalachicola, and in fact the entire Franklin county, has been without direct representation in Congress for over fifty years, and this fact is prominently brought out by the friends of Mr. Griggs, who feel sure of his election in the primary.

ANOTHER FLORIDA SLANDERER.

Every once in a while, says The Miami Metropolis, some fool or fakir rushes into print with a story or statement that does Florida irreparable damage. Recently we had Rowell, who dealt out a "dose" to our roads and soil, but was promptly shown up as a liar and ignoramus of the very first order. Now we have one Dr. John B. Watson, who says that the temperature at Dry Tortugas reaches 140 degrees in the shade. The Key West Citizen very quickly takes the learned man up and by facts and figures makes him everything but a person with a high regard for the truth. The Citizen says:

"If Dr. John B. Watson, professor of psychology in the University of Chicago, was correctly quoted in a recent issue of The Chicago Daily News, he is duly eligible for the highest honors in the Annanias Club.

"The Doctor has been spending some time at Dry Tortugas, studying the sea gull language, in which he claims to have attained great proficiency, and to which no one has any objection, but when he states that the temperature there reaches 140 in the shade, he is paving his way for his admission to an even hotter clime when he shuffles off this mortal coil.

"We may be charitable enough to suppose that the Doctor didn't mean what he said literally, for such a statement is absurd on its face, but nevertheless such reckless assertions are harmful to our State and are in line with the many other slanders that have found their way into print to the detriment of Florida during the past few months.

"Any person who has ever spent a summer on the Florida keys knows that the temperature rarely reaches 90 degrees, and that taken the year round we have the most equable and delightful climate in the world. The only reason our people have for going North in summer is that it is considered the fashionable thing to do.

"Ninety-one degrees is the maximum temperature recorded by the United States Weather Bureau at Key West this summer—and that only on four days. If the reports made by Dr. Watson regarding sea gulls are no more reliable than his statements about the weather, his researches have been a waste of time, if, in fact, the time of such a freak has any value under any circumstances."

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN SOUTH.

No sensible man who appreciates the value and the benefit of a railroad to a community and a State, says The Atlanta Constitution, would advocate placing unnecessary and oppressive burdens upon these corporations.

So long as they obey the law, have a proper regard for the people's rights and refuse to engage in practices which are opposed to common honesty and fair dealing, they should be treated justly and fairly; they should be given protection and afforded every facility for doing business.

Railroads help the State. They are vitally necessary to insure the continued progress and prosperity of the country.

But when a railroad is guilty of an infraction of the laws, penalties must be inflicted. Under the moral and the natural law the punishment is far in excess of the original offense. This principle holds good in the application of civil and criminal law.

A sense of fairness and the possession of constructive statesmanship are necessary in approaching a solution of the railroad problem. Any regulation of common carriers must keep in view the rights of the people equally with the rights of the roads.

In the enactment of reduced rate legislation the ability of the railroads of the State to stand such a reduction must be considered. If the lower rate reduces revenue below the actual cost of operation, it is confiscatory and will be annulled by the courts.

This is not an academic, but a practical question, and sensible judges have so held. Judge Munger, of the United States district court in Missouri, refused, on this ground, to grant an injunction sought by the railroads to prevent the putting into effect of a reduced rate on transportation in that State. He took the sensible stand that only a trial of the new law and a comparison of revenue would demonstrate whether it was confiscatory and, therefore, unconstitutional.

Railroads are prospering in the South to a marvelous extent. Of late years they have constantly extended their lines and entered new and hitherto undeveloped territory. The Manufacturers' Record presents some interesting statistics of the gross earnings of the leading Southern carriers.

The Record shows that the Southern railroad's gross earnings for the year ending June 30, 1907, were $56,096,961, an increase of more than $3,000,000 over the preceding year.

The Louisville and Nashville earned $48,284,810 during the same period, an increase of more than $2,500,000.

The Atlantic Coast Line shows for eleven months gross earnings of $24,674,423, a gain of nearly $2,000,000 in that period.

The Seaboard reports $15,050,268 up to the end of May, or an increase of $1,100,000 for the eleven months.

The Central of Georgia shows $12,210,584 for the year, or over $800,000 increase.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis shows for eleven months gross earnings of $11,124,675, or over $1,100,000 greater than for the same period last year.

The Chesapeake and Ohio shows $23,366,176, which is $4,000,000 greater than for the first eleven months of the preceding fiscal year.

The Mobile and Ohio exhibits a total of $10,714,963 for the year, which is an increase of $1,300,000.

These figures do not represent the net, but the gross, earnings of the roads.

The course of Judge Munger is the correct one. If it is demonstrated that the roads of any State cannot operate under a reduced rate for transportation, the law in that State should be amended. If it appears that new, short lines of road which have contributed much to the development of the virgin territory are materially injured by the reduced rate, exception should be made in such cases. This was done by North Carolina, which exempted from the operation of the 2½-cent law all railroads under sixty miles in length.

LOOKOUT FOR BREAKERS.

As politics and business are inextricably mixed up at the present time more than ever before, it behooves thoughtful men to keep their eyes open and watch the double game as it is being played. With Wall street in a turmoil and the stock market sagging, and money, even for legitimate business purposes hard to obtain, it does not require any guessing to say that there is greater financial trouble ahead. The building boom is quieting down and railroad improvements are being curtailed. So far these indications are mostly confined to the cities, and fairly good times prevail in the country districts. The wise man looks ahead and prepares for any emergency that may be forced upon him, and at all events keeps out of debt and does not buy except what he absolutely needs.

The conference a day or two ago at Oyster Bay of the President, with Secretary Taft and other advisers, was to consider what could be done to prevent the Wall street disturbance from becoming epidemic and spreading all over the country. The continuation of the business boom is necessary for the salvation of the Republican party, it has staked its all on continued prosperity, which it arrogantly declares is due to its tariff and financial policies—breakdown, therefore, would probably bring political disaster. It is reported that it was agreed by the conference that if it becomes necessary that Secretary Cortelyou should throw open the doors of the United States treasury, and every free dollar that the vaults contain should be placed at the service of the New York banks. Whether the gold reserve of $150,000,000 is also to be trenched upon, in case of financial disaster, is not known, but as everything goes with the present Republican administration to gain its political ends, there is no reason to believe it will fear to over ride an act of Congress if that is all there is between business and political troubles.

PRESERVE THE FORESTS.

The following is from The American Forestry Press Bulletin:

"Ignore it as we may, the fact remains that, in a vital sense, the future of New England and the South largely depends upon the saving of the forests upon the White and Southern Appalachian Mountains. To destroy these forests is to destroy the very foundations upon which must be built the future of these sections.

"If any outside New England and the South feel indifferent they should recall that in the Southern Appalachian Mountains is found our last remaining stand of hard woods. The destruction of these must effect the well-being of the entire United States. Even were this not true, the menace threatening the two sections named should impress every informed and patriotic American citizen. If any there be whose patriotism is confined to regard for his own section let him remember the words of Cimon of Athens. Sparta, in the throes of a servile revolt, called upon Athens for help. Fearing the rivalry of Sparta, Pericles and Ephialtes advised that a deaf ear be turned to the call. But in words ever to be remembered Cimon, rising from local to national patriotism, exclaimed: 'Let not Greece be lamed and Athens robbed of her yoke-fellow.'

"That Sparta proved ungrateful boots nothing in the present case. Happily for America, sectional rivalry within her boundaries is past. No section of this republic need grudge or fear the progress and prosperity either of New England or of the South. The welfare of these sections is the welfare of our whole nation. As Paul well said: 'We are all members one of another;' and if one member suffer, all the other members must inevitably suffer with it. Do any imagine that the reclamation of western deserts will give advantage merely to the occupants of those regions? Does any one doubt, on the other hand, that such a work will enthuse new life and add new vigor and power to our whole Nation? Conversely, can any one doubt that the decay and ruin of any important section of our common country must infallibly weaken that country as a whole?"

RAILROADS AND POLITICS.

For some years the reliance of the railroads has been the United States courts, and now that public opinion has had its effect on some of the judges and the real equities of the people are being considered, there is a very pessimistic feeling amongst corporation magnates. The same public opinion is bound to produce a reform spasm in the votes of some of the Republican members of the United States Senate, and already the State senators in several States have been falling over each other to be the first to declare for reduced rates. Now there is danger in this political management of railroads, and sensible people must turn their faces against those politicians who for political effect are ready to harrass the railroads instead of being fair and just to them and the people alike. The public wants reasonable rates, good accommodations and safe transit for passengers and goods. No one but the Socialists desire confiscation, and no sensible person desires rates so low that they would tend to prevent a fair return on the money invested. At the same time the railroads must play fair. They must reform their way of doing business and abolish the plundering of the inside companies, such as fast freight lines, collusion with contractors, and the bridge and terminal extortion, and other soft snaps for the benefit of insiders. It will take time to accomplish these reforms, and the sooner the railroad managers set their houses in order and show deeds meet for repentance, the better it will be for the public and themselves. Instead of government ownership, what is needed is the divorce of railroads from politics.

SEEING AMERICA.

"Seeing America" is yearly becoming more popular as a vacation pleasure with sensible Americans. If we remember aright, there was not long ago a Western organization with the motto "See America First," devoted to exploiting the scenic and other attractions of our remarkable West. But whether we make America first or second in our cross-continent travels, seeing America is today a popular and satisfying pleasure to a degree heretofore unattainable. The presence among us of visiting women representatives of Texas, to whom a personal knowledge of their fellow-Americans remotely located and of the institutions and customs of life that are peculiar to metropolitan growth is a rare pleasure, exemplifies the growing inclination to see and personally know America. While we welcome visitors with all the heartiness and cordiality possible to the New York temperament, we are assured that we ourselves have awaiting us a rare pleasure and satisfaction as future guests of those other and remote towns whither our pilgrimages tend when we, too, shall find seeing America one of those treats of the years best worth while. It is just such interchanges of courtesies and visits as will unify us as a nation, by enabling us to understand one another. We have a lot to teach one another, and in that teaching lies a certain safety from provincialism.—New York Commercial.

WANT A WINNER.

The debate now going on between the Democrats about the availability of Mr. Bryan and others for the nomination for President leads The Augusta Chronicle to declare: "While it is certainly desirable that a Southerner man be made President, the object must be accomplished at least upon a basis of merit both in man and platform, and not alone upon a mere geographical accident of birth. For the voters of the country to cast their ballots for a candidate merely because he is a Southerner would be as insane as Southern people casting their's against the candidate simply because he hails from New York or any other Northern State. What Democrats want is a candidate that can win, and the best display of Americanism they can make will be to unite in supporting such a man."

Reports of the appearance of the bubonic plague in San Francisco—three cases and one death having occurred there last week—are not attended with any excitement, says The Savannah Morning News. The probabilities are that for many years there have been cases in San Francisco that the public never heard anything about, in the Chinese quarter and along the "Barbary Coast," where sailors from all quarters of the globe gather to drink and carouse. But the plague is not feared so much now as it was a dozen years ago. One of the greatest achievements of medical science in recent years is the growing ability of the men of the profession to calm the people and inspire confidence in them when an epidemic disease makes its appearance. In all probability this country has seen the last really great epidemic of any disease.

According to The St. Augustine Record orange growers in that section are commenting on the disappearance of the white fly. Where a year or two ago they swarmed about the groves in countless myriads, now the trees are looking bright and thrifty, with no white flies about. No surmises as to the reason for the disappearance of the pest are mentioned. Could it be that the long drought was another of those fortunate "calamities" that help Florida on to prosperity as a State every now and then?—Times-Union.

A telegram to The Times-Union from Dowling Park, under date of August 18, says: "Fire supposed to be of incendiary origin completely destroyed the saw mills here, owned by the Dowlings, at an early hour this morning. The aggregate loss is estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000, partially covered by insurance. The employes of the mills and citizens worked faithfully to save the property, but the flames had gained too great a headway before being discovered."

There is not the least doubt that ere many years the National government will have to assume entire regulative control of the railroads, State rights or no State rights. There must be uniformity of freight and passenger rates which can never be obtained under the conflicting laws of the different States, and it would be better for the people and the railroads for the National government to do all the regulating.

REV. JOHN C. LEY GONE TO REWARD

Venerable Methodist Minister Died n Jacksonville Monday.

WAS BURIED IN MICANOPY

On Tuesday Afternoon Under Masonic Ritual—Sixty Years in Pulpit, Assisting in Organizing of Methodists in Florida in 1845.

Rev. John C. Ley, the veteran Methodist preacher, who has been for sixty years in the service of the Lord as a minister, and who assisted in the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Florida, is no more, having died at his home in Jacksonville on Monday.

The Times-Union of the 20th inst. has the following to say regarding this distinguished religious worker, which will prove of interest to readers of The Sun, as deceased was well known throughout this section, which he made his home for many years:

"Rev. John C. Ley, a venerable man of God and minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ, passed to his reward from his little home at 737 West Monroe street, at 3 p. m., yesterday, August 19, 1907, in the 85th year of his age.

"Few men who have lived in Florida have lived and wrought to better purposes than he. Coming to this State in the winter of 1844-5, while it was yet a Territory, he was one of thirty-one preachers who were present at and assisted in the organization of Methodism in Florida at a conference which convened at Tallahassee, February 6, 1845.

"For sixty years he devoted his energies, his manhood and his Christian consecration to the arduous labors of a Methodist itinerant, and five years ago was placed on the 'retired list' full of years and honors, to bide the message of the King who should pronounce a 'well done.'

"For two or three years he resided with his wife at their little home at Micanopy, but the increasing infirmities of age necessitated his removal to Jacksonville, where his children were living. For two years he has lived here, widely known and tenderly loved, but very retired, shunning the public as far as possible from his inherent sense of retiring modesty and the feebleness of age.

"A man of wide literary attainments, well versed in English literature, yet so absorbed in the study of his Bible that his last years were largely spent in pondering the pages of that book, which glows with heavenly light, and the entrances of whose words giveth life. His personal diary shows that for four years he has read the Bible through, an average of twelve times each year, often taking copious notes on favorite passages as he read. It is not to be assumed, however, that he had lost interest in affairs about him. Keenly alive to his surroundings he watched with interest the daily papers, commented intelligently on all the questions of the day, and was well posted on the great national events which go to make up the history of the world.

"There were very few subjects, scientific, political or religious, concerning which he was not well informed and in which he was not profoundly interested. Few men equal him in the balance and poise of mind which characterized him. Tender, without effeminacy, stern without harshness, intelligent without egotism, religious without cant, pious without bigotry, learned without pedantry, he illustrated the possibility of a marvelous mental balance sanctified by the gospel of Jesus Christ, and of common sense.

"An active Mason, so long as physical strength permitted participation in lodge affairs, he had climbed to a high position of prominence among his fellow craftsmen, and enjoyed their fullest confidence. Though in great feebleness of body, he was glad to attend the last sessions of the grand lodge, held in this city. He was also an honored and honorably retired Confederate veteran, having served as soldier, nurse and chaplain in the war of '61-'65. He regretted the secession of the Southern States, voted against it, but went heartily with the fortunes and helped bravely to bear the misfortunes of the South. Finally reconstructed, he lived and died a loyally patriotic citizen of this great Republic.

"His immediate death was due to prostatic trouble, aggravated by complications. Three weeks ago he was stricken with what proved his fatal illness. Surrounded by his devoted wife and three sons and their families, attended by competent and untiring trained nurses, day and night, watched by skilled and sympathetic physicians, without a murmur, with a quiet steadfastness of faith, and a gentle restfulness in the promises of that God whom he knew and whom he had trusted for more than seventy years, he sank out of death into the life more abundant. His last quoted text, and a favorite with him, was Paul's affirmation of triumph: 'For me to live is Christ, to die is gain.' One of his favorite hymns, 'Asleep in Jesus' was repeated, as a child tired of his day's play falls at eventide into his mother's arms to say: 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'

"The dear old woman who walked by his side for more than fifty-four years, a loving, painstaking, self-sacrificing, dutiful wife and mother, remains, but is supported in her grief by the unseen arm of her Lord and King, and by the tender ministrations of her sons.

"A large circle of friends will read these lines with moistened eyes and a flood of tender memories will go out in loving sympathy to those who mourn their loss in the departure of this truly noble and good man."

Funeral at Micanopy.

The remains were taken to Micanopy on Tuesday, where they were laid to rest in the family burying ground in the afternoon, under the beautiful and impressive Masonic ritual. Rev. J. L. Z. Harris, a close friend of the deceased for many years, officiated as the minister.

A large crowd of the friends of the deceased were present to pay their last sad respects.

To the bereaved widow and family The Sun extends sincere sympathy.

MR. MERCHANT'S DEPARTURE.

Has Accepted Responsible Position on Faculty of Military College.

T. Curry Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Merchant of this city, and a graduate of Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., last term, has been tendered, and has accepted, a responsible position on the faculty of the Horner Military Institute, Oxford, N. C.

After spending his vacation here, Mr. Merchant left Tuesday for the Jamestown Exposition. He will also visit Washington, Baltimore and other points, after which he will return to Oxford, where he will assume the chair of Greek and German in the Horner institution.

Mr. Merchant is yet a very young man, and his appointment to this position is indeed an honor of which himself, his parents and his friends may feel proud. It goes without saying that he will fill the position with eminent satisfaction, both to himself and the faculty.

HAS A GOOD JOB.

G. W. Pendarvis Has Accepted Management of Thomasville Office.

G. W. Pendarvis, for the past year one of the efficient operators in the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has severed his connection here for the purpose of accepting a position as manager of the Thomasville office of that company, and himself and wife have gone to the Georgia city, where he will assume his duties at once.

Mr. Pendarvis has proven himself not only a competent operator, but an obliging gentleman as well, and he will be missed greatly by the patrons of the office here.

Death of Joseph McEwen.

Joseph McEwen, sixty-five years of age, died at his home in Lochloosa Saturday, and was buried Sunday afternoon. Deceased was a native of South Carolina, but had been a citizen of Florida for many years. He was a Confederate veteran, and rendered good and faithful service.

Deceased is survived by a widow and eight children, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

A Happy Marriage.

His Honor County Judge Mason was called upon yesterday, after issuing the license, to perform the marriage ceremony which united in the holy bonds of matrimony G. W. Johnson and Miss Margaret Pyles, both of Ocala. The ceremony was witnessed by quite a number of people who were attracted to the Judge's office, all of whom extended congratulations to the happy couple.

ALACHUA SENDS FIRST BALE TO SAVANNAH

Said to Be Extra Fine Qnality of Florida Long Staple.

WAS SHIPPED BY J. C. HAILE

To W. W. Gordon & Co., Weighing 363 Pounds—Was Dry and Generally Superior to the Usual Bale Received at That Point.

Alachua county in general, and Gainesville in particular, has again come to the front in the matter of furnishing the first bale of Sea Island cotton to the Savannah market, as the following from Wednesday's Times-Union will show:

"The first bale of Florida's Sea Island cotton for the season of 1907 reached Savannah Monday morning consigned to Messrs W. W. Gordon & Company, and was shipped by J. C. Haile, from Gainesville, Fla., last Saturday.

"The bale, according to reports from Savannah, was of unusually good quality of long staple, and was classed as extra fine East Florida. It weighed 363 pounds, was dry and generally superior to the usual bales received at that point.

"What was thought would be the firts bale of Florida Sea Island to reach Savannah this season, was due yesterday morning, and reports from Savannah were to the effect that the bale would be disposed of in front of the cotton exchange yesterday, at auction.

"The bale was sold for the benefit of the Columbia College at Lake City. The bale was sent to Savannah in the belief that it would bring a better price than had it been sold in Florida. This bale was grown by J. R. Williams of Alachua and was shipped to George F. Armstrong, of the Mutual Mining Company of Savannah.

"Just what price the bale of Sea Island brought in Savannah yesterday afternoon could not be ascertained, but it is generally believed that it brought a good price, as the proceeds went to the new college at Lake City.

"The first two bales were received in Savannah last year on August 18, one from Georgia and one from Florida, the Georgia bale being consigned to W. W. Gordon & Co. In 1905 the first bale was from Florida and reached Savannah on August 5. The previous year the first bale was from Georgia and came on August 13."

Fletcher Cromwell Improving.

Fletcher Cromwell, who, with his mother, left here a few weeks ago for the mountains of North Carolina, for the benefit of his health, is improving, which will be gratifying information to his friends here.

Mr. Cromwell and mother are living in a tent within a few miles of Asheville. This method was suggested by the physicians attending the young man, in order that he might get at all times the benefit of absolutely pure air, which has proved a great benefit to him.

THE NEWS FROM BELL.

First Cotton Sold to J. A. Ward at a Good Price—Other Notes.

Bell, August 21.—A considerable storm from the West passed through our midst, doing some damage to fences, trees and cotton.

Mr. Garrett Sanders sold the first hundred pounds of cotton here this week. After a few interesting bids by our leading merchants, J. A. Ward purchased at his premium price, 7⅛ cents.

Our merchants say Mr. Ward will have to "get there Eli" if he buys all the cotton. This means strong competition and fair prices for cotton. The fields are showing up well with the fleecy lock.

Jones Bryant left last week for Jamestown and will take in Baltimore and other commercial cities, replenishing his now well equipped general store.

Mrs. Linea Sheffield has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Maxie Scofield. Mrs. Scofield will spend a few weeks with her mother at Judson, her old home.

William Thomas and H. Starling made a flying visit to Jacksonville on business today.

M. T. Waters returned Saturday from Lafayette, where he has been canvassing the territory in the interest of the Jubilee smoothing iron.

Mrs. Rhodman has been very sick this week with cholera morbus. Pleased to know that she is improving.

Archer, August 21.—Guy Fleming left this week for Northern Georgia, where he will visit for some time.

Mrs. C. W. Bumknight and daughter, Lelia, left for Eastern cities and will visit Jamestown before their return.

Dr. Warfield has gone to his old home in Hartsfield, Ga. His health has not been good, and he hopes a change will be beneficial to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Newland of Live Oak arrived yesterday, and are guests of Mrs. Newland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hussey. Mr. Newland will leave today for Denver, Col., on account of his health.

R. B. Hodgson and niece, Miss Annie McLeon, left on Monday for Jamestown.

STUMP PULLING AN EASY THING

Contractor Hodgson Pulls Up Huge Trees With Great Ease.

THE WORK IS DONE QUICKLY

From Three to Five Minutes Only Required to Uproot the Monarchs of the Forest—Effective Work of Clearing a Public Right-of-Way.

The Sun representative, accompanied with County Commissioner C. C. Merrick and Photographer James Smith, visited the scene of road clearing east of the city, on the Payne's Creek road, Wednesday morning, when Contractor Thomas B. Hodgson demonstrated how easily and quickly a right-of-way could be cleared of stumps and trees by the use of the stump-puller, which has been working on the right-of-way for the past few days.

Mr. Hodgson, who is using a [illegible] puller, declares that he can pull any stump or tree in Florida, and judging from what was seen on the occasion of this visit, we believe he can.

As a demonstration of the [illegible] problem was, Mr. Hodgson hitched his cable around an oak tree [illegible] inches in diameter at the base, and at the fork of two [illegible] feet from the ground. Then, by the power he [illegible] pulled it out of the [illegible] five minutes.

Mr. Hodgson is working [illegible] feet south of the [illegible] clearing the right-of-way [illegible] and trees. He is [illegible] operate and has [illegible] ed, will be entirely [illegible] months.

A RUNAWAY HORSE CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Animal Belonging to C. M. Dell Showed His High Blood.

HORSE CALLED ON ROYAL COOK.

But the Visit Was So Sudden and of Short Duration That Mr. Cook Did Not Realize the Situation Until the Animal Had Gone.

One of the most exciting runaways to occur in Gainesville for some time, was that on Tuesday morning, when a frightened horse belonging to Charles M. Dell, the liveryman, and driven by [illegible] Robertson, suddenly became unmanageable on East Mechanic street.

With a mad dash the animal began, and at the corner of East Main and East Mechanic streets the driver lost control of the reins. The buggy was [illegible] into a telephone pole, the occupant thrown out on his head, and the horse continued his mad flight. [illegible] the east side of the square was [illegible] a negro, whom, it was afterward said had not moved for two [illegible] but the horse came wildly toward him, and there was something [illegible] about the darkey. It [illegible] too much, however, as the [illegible] leaped over the bench at the [illegible] where the negro had been [illegible].

Dashing at a breakneck speed, [illegible] entered the store of Royal [illegible] through the side door, proceeding [illegible] up a rocker that Mr. [illegible] had several years, and which [illegible] clearly, and passed out of [illegible] door into the back alleyway, [illegible] only by a brick wall [illegible] his progress.

[illegible] a fortunate thing that Mr. [illegible] possessed of presence of [illegible] took refuge behind a huge [illegible] pillow, else he would have [illegible] and trampled to death. [illegible] especially at the store, [illegible] created a great deal of [illegible] and a large crowd filled [illegible] shortly afterward to ascertain [illegible]. Mr. Cook took the [illegible] gracefully, however, and [illegible] that the breaking [illegible] rocker was the only [illegible].

[illegible] HOUSE BURNED.

[illegible] reports the burning of [illegible] of David Pinholster at [illegible] on Thursday, the loss being [illegible] including all household goods. [illegible] efforts on the part of neighbors, however, the barn was saved. [illegible] cost in the neighborhood [illegible], and was one of the best in [illegible]. It is understood that [illegible] carried only $400 in- [illegible] and his friends sympathize [illegible] in his loss.

[illegible] Returned to Gainesville.

[illegible] H. Manning and family, after a [illegible] spent in Lakeland, have returned [illegible] city, and will again make [illegible]ville their home.

[illegible] Manning has purchased the [illegible] on South Arredondo street, [illegible] the home of J. F. Bunch, and [illegible] now residing there with his family. [illegible] Manning and his family are [illegible] welcomed to their old home.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels, (as mucous colitis), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in effecting cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is advised for [illegible] one class of diseases—those [illegible] weaknesses, [illegible] and [illegible] peculiar to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulas of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

MR. DAVIS HOME.

Made Extended Visit to the North and is Looking Better.

W. L. Davis, who owns a fine place a few miles west of Gainesville, has returned from an extended visit to New York, Philadelphia, Washington and the Jamestown Exposition, and, judging from his appearance, the change proved of great benefit to him.

Mr. Davis left this city about six weeks ago in company with W. J. McCormick and W. S. McDowall. The party visited Norfolk, Philadelphia and New York together, separating in the latter city. Mr. Davis returned to Washington, where he spent some time with relatives and friends.

Mr. Davis states that the weather, with one or two exceptions, has been fine, and during the past few days, upon one or two occasions, he felt that a light overcoat would be comfortable. His numerous friends are glad to welcome him home again, and are pleased to see him looking so well.

Have Moved to Gainesville.

R. D. Medlin and family have moved to Gainesville, realizing the excellent educational advantages offered here. They come from Williston, where Mr. Medlin is extensively engaged in the manufacture of lumber.

The Medlin family is now located temporarily, but have leased the home of Capt. John B. Dell, Roper avenue, East Gainesville, which they will occupy about September 1, as Captain Dell expects to remove with his family to his elegant farm near Alachua. This house is one of the largest and most modern in East Gainesville, and is bound to prove satisfactory to Mr. Medlin.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Medlin will be glad to welcome them to Gainesville, and hope they will be pleased.

The City Council.

The City Council met in adjourned session Monday, but no business of importance was transacted.

There were present at this meeting President Pro Tem Bunch and Aldermen Cannon, Wittstock, Mixson and Vidal.

Upon motion C. M. Dell was granted a permit to erect a shed in the rear of his stable, the roofing on said shed to be of fire-proof material.

An ordinance to regulate plumbing and house-draining was passed upon its first and second readings, and ordered engrossed, after which an adjournment was taken until Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. JUDGE MASON'S COURT.

Six Negroes Arraigned On Charge of Gambling—Three Acquitted.

There was an interesting session of Judge Mason's court Monday, six negroes, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs L. E. Story and Charles Wienges at Fairbanks, upon a charge of gambling, being arraigned.

These negroes were Robert McKay, Jim Montgomery, Charles White, Elith Brown, William Huffman and Shepherd Pinkney.

Montgomery, McKay and White pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to pay a fine of $10 each and costs, or sixty days in the county jail.

Brown, Huffman and Pinkney, when arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and were placed on trial by jury. After hearing the evidence in the case the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The jury was composed of D. A. Robertson, foreman; C. A. W. Thomas, J. P. Bauknight, T. J. McRae, Sr., A. T. Zetrouer and W. J. Denby.

Baker & Baxter represented the defendants.

E. D. Atkinson, white, charged with obstructing an officer in the discharge of his duty, waived examination and gave bond for his appearance at the next term of the circuit court. Mr. Atkinson is from Micanopy.

Odd Obituary.

He passed from life—he shut the door—
Went where the saints are waitin',
But just the time he reached that shore

The Millionaires.

It's time to be thankful, if you're poor and happy, when you read this brief story of a millionaire:

"He is worth $10,000,000, and is perfectly willing to give half for an appetite, and the luxury of feeling sleepy when night comes!"

A Text for You.

"You must watch out whar you gwine in dis worl'," said the old colored preacher. "Even de devil won't wade too fur in deep water fer fear de fire will be out!"

"These fine summer days," says a rural editor, "we're enjoying life under a shady oak tree, with one darky to fan us, and another to pull the mint for the juleps!"

The Doctor's Opinion.

A Georgia youngster has this eloquent chronicle on his "Daddy's Day Fishing":

"Dad went fishin' yesterday an' didn't git home till mighty late, with only a jug, an' no fish. Maw met him at the door, an' now the doctor says he'll be able to be out in six weeks."

Says a Georgia philosopher: "There isn't much use in sending tracts to the heathen, for when the fire gets too hot for 'em they'll make tracks fast enough!"

"The Wisdom of a Day" is the title of a new book; and heaven knows, that's all we need; for if we possessed the wisdom of a whole year we'd fall under the weight of our own superiority!

Billville Notes.

The other day we caught three boys, had their hair trimmed, and gave each of them a mule to plow all summer.

Just to be in style our leading novelist has attached a gasoline engine to his ox-cart and now rides around the country, imagining he's in a $3,000 automobile.

A Word From Trouble.

"The world's coming single an' double,
Looking for darkness in day;
There's no use to hurry," says Trouble:
"They'll meet me half-way!

Planning their fate to unravel,
Losing the gold for the gray,
Want as well rest from the travel—
They'll meet me half way!"

Nuggets From Georgia.

When Satan hears a fellow swearing at warm weather in this world smiles and says: "That fool doesn't know when he is well off!"

If we were granted 99 years' lease on hell nine-tenths of us would ask for renewal, and go growling to the fire because we couldn't get it.

Look for success and you will find it—just keep a looking.

Not what we take up, but what we give up—that makes us rich.

Be a willing worker; be not only good, but good for something.

What we see depends almost altogether on what we are looking for.

Certainly! the man on the mountain has a longer day than the man in the valley.

We all make mistakes at times. It takes all sorts of experiences to shape a life.

Our noblest emotions and our richest sentiments are born in hours of deepest sorrow.

The over-careful mind of necessity is always tinged with doubts, fears pessimism and cynicism.

I am almost sure it depends on yourself whether you raise an angel or the devil in that boy of yours.

This life is no blot—it's no blank. It is overflowing with the richest meaning—and it all means something good.

I know a great many saints who are experts in committing you to the mercy of God and ignoramuses in showing any mercy themselves.

Hasten slowly—don't lose heart. If you have to put your iron on the anvil twenty times, what's the difference—just so the weld don't break?

The fact that the angels commit no sin is largely due to their surroundings. That same environment down here would make angels out of the last one of us.

Have you just simply robbed him of his ideal? He may seem to forget about it; he may act the same to you, but oh, how little forgiveness counts when a star goes out.

"Where are you going to?" Never mind! Just follow the sign board that has on it the Golden Rule. Do the nearest duty the best you can—that's the royal road to Paradise.

For one to go all to pieces, or for one to give a full rein to a suspicious nature, is like standing at your bank of strength weakening your reserve fund by perpetual overdrafts.

Somebody has said that every noble life leaves the fibre of it interwoven into the fabric of the world. "I will" is a projectile that hits the mark; a power that moves mountains.

What a tragedy! I have seen an apparently invulnerable character go out like a candle suddenly snuffed. The reef may be hidden for years and then wreck the stateliest ocean palace.

A competent authority declares that our great writers are not great robbers. Literature is not a repository of stolen goods. What seems like stealing by the steel pen is rather the putout of the lapidary, or a reissue of the mint, or, better still, the borrowing from a bank repaid with interest.

The more we love the more intensely sensitive are we to anything that looks like an oversight of our devotion. One should be slow to condemn what sometimes appears to be supersensitiveness. For, it may be, what we call such is but a storm of disappointed longing that sweeps a sea of perfect love.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A Distinguished Visitor.

The Rev. F. H. Craighill, rector of Holy Trinity Church, Gainesville, Fla., was the guest of the Rev. T. J. Purdue last week. He came in the interest of the Men's Thanksgiving offering for missions, which is to be presented next October at the General Convention of the Episcopal Church at Richmond, in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the Episcopal Church in America, the first service being held by an English clergyman in Jamestown, 300 years ago.

Mr. Craighill raised $100 for this purpose from the men of the Episcopal Church of this city.

The visit of Mr. Craighill was very much enjoyed at the rectory.—Apalachicola Times.

Handsome Home Destroyed.

Valdosta, Ga., Aug. 20—The handsome home of C. C. Joiner, a few miles north of the city, was burned to the ground Saturday morning. The fire was discovered at an early hour by Mr. Joiner, in a room on the second floor, and had gained such headway that coals of fire were dropping through the floor and ceiling onto a bed on the floor below, on which his little son was sleeping. The family succeeded in escaping, but lost a large part of their wearing apparel and a great deal of furniture. It is understood that $4,500 insurance was carried on the home, but this does not cover the loss.

The Painting Jeffersons.

"The Siege of Belgrade," a comic opera by Cobb, was the first new production in New York in 1796-97. For it Mr. Jefferson's grandfather, Joseph Jefferson 1st, painted the scenery, and in it he played the character of Leopold. Mr. Jefferson's father, Joseph Jefferson 2d, who, like his illustrious son, was born in Philadelphia, was more manager than actor and more painter than either. As a boy he studied architecture and drawing, and he was also pupil to the scenic artist Robert Coyle, an Englishman of repute at that period. — Francis Wilson in Scribner's.
